Russia Banyan Experience

Russia signature Spa Treatment is about the banya (sauna). In Russia, sweating and health are virtually synonymous, and the body's safe and natural way to heal. Enhances circulation and oxygenates the cells, tissues and organs. It increases the body's ability to produce energy, which promotes healing by speeding up your metabolism. Your cells are capable of eliminating toxins more effectively. After the sauna experience you will receive a Russian massage, which is a combination of therapeutic and sports massage, developed in the former Soviet Union. It uses a variety of manipulations of the body's soft tissues to achieve benefits, including stress reduction and relief from muscle aches.

Bali Aromatherapy Experience

What sets the Balinese massage apart, aside from the combination of techniques, is the use of essential oils. When a Balinese massage is performed, great attention is paid to the scents used in the massage oil. A variety of essential oils are used, such as jasmine, ginger, rose or sandalwood to cure a specific ailment. Mental relaxation is only one of the goals, the massage is also designed to deeply relax tense muscle tissue by combining standard massage techniques like kneading, stroking, and skin rolling with gentle stretching.

Thailand Body work Experience

Thailand offers you a unique form of massage. Through deep muscle stretching, joint release and emphasis on the breath, Thai massage offers many of the same benefits as yoga. It's amazing how much more we are able to move when another person is providing assistance and encouraging us to relax. It is an interactive form of bodywork quite unlike any other Western or Eastern forms. While it does include work by the practitioner kneading muscles, what makes it beneficial it's unique form of stretching. You remain passive while the practitioner maneuvers your body.
